- . Game time moves from two 35 minutes halves to four 15 minute quarters.
- . Playing time maximized with 40 second time-out for penalty corners and goals.
- . Rule changes set to improve on-field hockey, fan experience and game analysis.
- . Overall game time will move from 70 minutes (previously to two 35-minutes halves) to a 60-minutes game with four 15 minute quarters where there is a time-out for penalty corner setup and goals.)

Additional 40 second stoppage increases playing time:

Supplementing the new 60-minute regulation, FIH also announced the implementation of 40-second time-out when a penalty corner is awarded. Additionally, a 40 second time out will also be added when a goal has been scored. Both time-outs allow for on-field team celebration time, video replays and analysis for televised matches, as well as additional opportunities to engage fans.

The time-outs ensure that the new 60-minute format is primarily time and eliminates the dead time associated with penalty corner set up while allowing for teams to enjoy their goal celebrations.
